"A POET SEES GOD"

Glimpses of God by a Poet will be the theme of the worship service Sunday morning at 11. Church School at 10. Interval of Song and Junior sermon at 10:45.

The Guild meets Wednesday. Tuesday, June 16, Community Night, "Australia, Past and Present" by MacLean Wilson.

ACTIVITIES OF ALPINE WOMAN'S CLUB

A brilliant review of John Steinbeck's new book on conditions and emotions of the peoples of an invaded free country, was given by Mrs Howard Ball at the bi-monthly meeting of the Alpine Woman's Club Tuesday, May 26. "The Moon is Down" is a triumphant story which should be read and reread by every American. Later a delightful social hour was enjoyed with Mrs H. L. Flegal and Mrs. Paul Bowers hostesses.

June 9 is the last meeting of the fiscal year and the president Mrs. Flegal requests that all annual reports be ready and handed in at that time.

This is also our "Play Day" which we are combining with a little patriotism. So don't forget that scrap rubber, whether you are a member of the Woman's Club or not bring all the old usable rubber you can find to the Club House that day and we will see that it reaches its proper destination.

The potluck luncheon on Play Day will be just that—so bring what you wish—but come.

PLANS FOR TRAINING STATE MILITIA FORMED

Many farm men and boys are enrolling in the State Militia throughout San Diego County and several community units are being organized as a result of the series of meetings held by the San Diego County agricultural extension service, at which information of the formation of community militia units was presented.

Men and boys between the ages of 16 to 65 who have rifles, shotguns or who are expert riflemen are eligible. Plans for their training are now being formulated. Ex-soldiers of former wars or retired officers of the army are being asked to help with the training program. Units will not be called out for service except in case of an invasion and then only to become active within San Diego County.

All persons wishing further information are asked to contact the farm advisor's office in the U. S. Customs Building in San Diego.

SUNDAY GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby L. Blankenship of San Diego visited Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lucas Sunday.

Transportation Lack May Bring Out Iron Horse

On Tuesday afternoon F. L. Lake, E. H. Carender and L. G. Scott of Lakeside and C. A. Beagle, of the Grossmont High School board met by appointment with George Barton, who has in charge the matter of transportation for Consolidated Aircraft workers, with the idea in view towards providing transportation for defense workers in this valley.

Many phases of the subject were discussed and it was learned that in the very near future a complete census will have been completed by all defense work plants in San Diego and we will thus know how many workers must be provided with means of getting to work.

MAY USE TRAIN

It is possible that the San Diego and Arizona tracks will be used from these plants to El Cajon and it is also possible that school buses must provide transportation from congregation points to railhead points. It is expected that workers will be assessed a toll for riding the buses as well as the railroad ride.

Mr. Barton stated that they are to have a conference yet this week with a member of the State Railroad Commission and thus get the desired information necessary to accomplish the proposed gigantic deal of transporting workers from Ramona. Lakeside, La Mesa and intervening points.

The local men, who are working under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, had contacted the Grossmont High School and were thus accompanied by C. A. Beagle, who is a member of that school board.

CONTACT WORKERS

The entire proceedings will take considerable time as yet and it thus behooves each and every local worker to contact other workers and double up on rides that rubber may be conserved. If enough interest is evidenced, Mr. Lake states that it might be wise to call a local mass meeting in order that workers can arrange their rides so that all will not be without tires at the same time.

It appears positive that we will have rationing of gasoline by July 1 and thus be allowed enough gas for the bare necessities and no more joy riding, concluded Mr. Lake.

Don't forget the date. June 6; the place, Lindo Park; the time, 7:00 p. m.

FERGUSON TO SPEAK AT FARM MEETING

Frank Ferguson, Secretary of the San Diego County office of the Agricultural Conservation Service, will be the guest speaker for the Lakeside Farm Bureau Center at their meeting which will be held at the Grammar School cafeteria on Thursday night, June 11, according to John B. Wilkinson, Jr., chairman. "We are fortunate in having Mr. Ferguson as our speaker," states Mr. Wilkinson, "as I know of no one better qualified to talk to farmers on farm problems in San Diego county today than Mr Ferguson. He will no doubt discuss many subjects of vital importance to all farmers; and at the conclusion of his talk, any farmers who wish to ask questions pertaining to priorities or other restictions will be able to do so."

Prior to Mr. Ferguson's talk, a potluck dinner will be served at 7 o'clock.

WILL SHOW MOVIE

The entertainment feature of the evening will be an exceptionaly interesting sound movie which Frank Weaver, Executive Secretary of the County Farm Bureau, will present.

Those farmers who are unable to attend the potluck dinner should make it a point to come to the meeting which will start at 7:45 o'clock. "The meeting is open to the public, and all are cordially invited," states Mr. Wilkinson.

LARGE POTATOES GROWN ON MILLER RANCH

Uncle Sam is asking for more food production and Lakeside farmers are doing their best to be of help. If you doubt this statement stop by The Farmer office and see the White Rose potatoes on display in the window.

These four potatoes all came from one hill on the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller on Laurel street. Mrs. Miller said that the potatoes were grown without irrigation and that the plants were frozen back twice by frost during the winter. The four potatoes weigh 3¾ pounds.

BEE KEEPERS URGED TO ATTEND MEETING

Bee keeping improvement methods in San Diego County will be discussed by Dr. J. E. Eckert, Associate Apiculturist in the University of California, on June 8 at 2:00 p.m. in room 104, Civic Center Building, San Diego. This meeting is sponsored by the agricultural extension service of the University of California, states Bernarr J. Hall, assistant farm advisor.

Every bee keeper, Hall stated, should do all in his power to make this year his biggest honey producing year to fill in the sugar shortage, as the federal government is anxious to have a greater amount of honey produced. Better methods of handling bees and labor saving developments will be discussed by Dr. Eckert. Priority rights of bee keepers and how bee men can obtain supplies, tires, etc. will also be discussed by the speaker, Hall stated.

Bee keepers of the county are urged to attend the meeting and present problems to Dr. Eckert, as well as learn what the state is doing for the bee keepers in this county.

SUNDAY SERVICES

Celebrating a milestone in their education and training for contributive, progressive living, the Eighth grade class of the Lakeside grammar school will conduct their own Baccalaureate services in the Community Church on Sunday June 7 at 11 a.m. The president of the class, Ronald Melville, will be the director of worship and will give the Call to Worship and Invocation immediately after the Processional by the class. Comfort Taylor will give the Morning Scripture lesson reading from Matthew and Luke in a Modern Speech Testament, The New Testament in Basic English. Morning Prayers will be led by George Simpson and the Announcements given by Edie Lou Cates. The graduating class will sing the Anthem. The service will close with the Recessional. The entire program was planned by the class and will be executed by them with the exception of the sermon which will be preached by the Community Church minister, Rev. Dick Wichman, who will use as his text the class motto, "From this day on I mean to do the best I can".

This being the First Sunday in June the regular monthly early morning prayer group will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the Sunday school room to the left of the kitchen in the Social Hall. All teachers of the Sunday School and Church officers are urged to attend along with all who are interested in backing the Church and its educational effort with the power of prayer. Following prayers the Sunday School will meet as usual.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES

In lieu of the Baccalureate services at Grossmont the High school Christian Endeavor will not hold its service this Sunday evening. The Junior C. E. will meet as usual, however.

The Hi Neighbors met as a committee at the manse Monday evening, June 1, before the Modern Woodmen dance, to plan for the summer and to look forward to the coming school year. They considered the possibility of organizinz on the Commission plan, used by so many college-age groups throughout the country. This would create four commissions to study each problem that confronts the group along definite emphasis. The plan would develop better leadership and give more opportunity for participation but would entail considerable study. The four commissions would be: Faith and Life, Stewardship, Social Education and Action, and World Friendship. The next meeting of the group will be at 8 p.m. Monday, June 15, at the manse and will close at 9 promptly when the group in a body will go to the Woodmen dance. The topic for this meeting will be a review of the Delaware Conference on a Just and Durable Peace and many of the young people will have done considerable reading for their discussion.

Most of the youth clubs are winding up their school year and planning for the summer. The Intermediate Hi-Y club will hold their last regular school year meeting in the Chapel of the Church and will elect officers for the next term,

KITCHEN SONG

On the black kind knees of the woodstove
Sits the tea-kettle, purring like a cat.
Sometimes the cook separates them for a minute,
And neither one of them cares for that.
The stove grumbles to itself, the kettle hisses,
For a little while the whole kitchen is ill at ease;
Then all is well again, and the stove sits contented
With the kettle purring once more on its black knees.

THE MOTHER OF INVENTION

Some 15 major items of civilian goods will be rationed because of shortages before this year is out, Washington warns in urging conservation. Six of the items, evidently, are sugar, gasoline, tires, typewriters, automobiles and bicycles. The remaining items have not been announced, through fear of a buying wave that would defeat the purpose of rationing, that all shall share alike in available supplies.

Such news is fuel for gloomy predictions by Sad Sams and Calamity Janes that semi-privation is ahead for us all. Yet—necessity being the mother of invention, and invention a trait peculiarly American—matters may not be so bad after all.

Sort of fooling around, America's chemists have come up already with skim milk felt hats for papa, soy bean dresses for mama, and quilts from plain garden vegetables to cover the children! Pillows are stuffed with milk-weed silk instead of wool or feathers. Does steel grow scarce? We have knives and forks of glass, presented as absolutely shatter-proof and sharp enough for the toughest of steaks. From coal alone, chemists have produced an infinity of articles and services—with exploration of the potentialities hardly begun.

No matter what shortages may develop in standard staples as the war goes on, it is a good bet that everyday American wants will still be reasonably realized through the twin American geniuses for invention and production.

THERE'LL BE FAIRS

America's greatest State fair—by which we mean none other than California's—will not be staged this year. However, in many parts of the State county and district fairs are being held, as in former years, from now until the end of September.

With long, costly pleasure trips no longer in order, this is a year when county and district fairs should really come into their own. The field is all theirs for holding up the mirror to California's horn of plenty.

DEMOCRACY

By Francis M. DeWeese

To approximately three fourths of the world Democracy is one of the most, if not the most, important and significant words in the English language today. To the other fourth it is no less so but is a thorn in the flesh. In their unholy desire for world power and empire, our Totalitarian enemies, have determined to destroy those higher ideals and cultural refinements of free men and free institutions.

With ruthless brutality, and wonton disregard for human rights, life and property, they have over-reached their bounds, and inadvertently, linked Democracy with freedom and liberty; not only in America, but throughout the world, and have set in motion a movement that will ultimately exact a fearful toll for their insane folly.

As a natural result America is the envy of people, from all parts of the world, have of people, from all parts of tre world, have come to these shores, to build their homes and rear their families, and have declared their allegiance, because they have found here a safe retreat offering every opportunity for growth and development; and have become good and loyal citizens.

Other thousands have come simply to take advantage of these larger opportunities and privileges; holding their allegiance to their native land, they have become subversive elements, a detriment to the country and a menace to society. To all such Democracy means no more than a shield for their selfish ambitions. All such should be given their passports "pronto."

The word Democracy comes from the Greek, and means the rule of the people. Abraham Lincoln gives us its best definition—"Government of the people, by the people and for the people." His language is in the vernacular of the people, and is neither obscure nor ambiguous. A child can understand it. Rightly understood and honestly administered, therefore, it is the finest and most equitable form of government on earth.

The term Democracy is synonymous with republic, and had its birth far back in antiquity. It is not therefore something new and in the experimental stage, but has been tried and proven effective. Democracy reached its highest development in the ancient world at Athens, Greece, in the time of Pericles, befor the outbreak of the Peloponnesian war. This war between Athens and Sparta was a struggle for supremacy between the principles of Democracy and Aristocracy, in the Hellenic world. This struggle has continued down through the centuries of time to the present, and will continue until the ideals of Lincoln are realized.

A pure Democracy is opposed to a Monarchy, where one rules, because it vests too much power in one man, and leads to a dictatorial regimentation; it is opposed to an Aristocracy, where a so-called nobility rules, which too often means tyranny. It is likewise opposed to an Oligarchy, where a wealthy few rule, for like reasons. There never lived but one man whose unselfish life and character qualified him for such rulership, the Man of Galilee.

There are several countries whose governments are a modified form of Democracy. Ours, is potentially, a Representative Democracy, which means of course, the people delegate the ordinary powers of government to representatives, supposedly chosen or elected by the people, and who are supposed to administer these powers honestly and conscientiously, in the interest of all the people, and not a favored few.

The cornerstone of our Democracy is the National Constitution, amplified and supported by the Bill of Rights, which has been in force since 1791. This document, which has been chart and compass of the ship of state since its adoption, was the product of some of the best brains and characters that ever graced this or any other country, commands the respect and admiration, and has made this country the envy of the civilized world.

It is a trite saying, "no chain is stronger than its weakest link." The weak link in the chain of our Democracy is the human element in both the private citizen and public official. No system of government, no matter how fine, can rise higher than the standard set by the men who administer it.

Vigorous Campaign Started This Week For Enlistment Of Farm Workers

Ray Mathewson, manager of the United States Employment Service Office in San Diego announced that for the first time the Service is unable to fill standing orders for farm workers in certain parts of California.

News of this serious labor shortage came from the Sacramento office of Ralph G. Wadsworth, Director of the Service in California, who said that certain offices throughout the state hold orders for men to thin beets and peaches which they cannot fill either with local labor or through statewide clearance facilities.

The Employment Service, in conjunction with the California State Council of Defense and the United States Department of Agriculture War Board, started a vigorous campaign this week to register every available adult in the state for farm work. The registration program of school children is virtually completed, according to Mathewson but even this extensive registration will be insufficient to assure sufficient labor for California's "food for victory" campaign.

The problem is further complicated, he said, in view of transportation difficulties, workers not moving as they have in former years. Similar conditions are being experienced in neighboring states, and it will be virtually impossible to effect any large scale migration to California.

While the United States Employment Service in Washington, D. C. is reported to have recommended the importation of between three and six thousand more Mexicans, Mathewson said, immigration regulations are so strict that he doubts seriously if many farmers in California can afford to meet them and that, as a result little assistance from this source can be expected.

"California's crops cannot be harvested this year without extensive assistance from thousands of persons in this state who never have done agricultural work," the Manager declared. "Crops must be harvested by labor already in the district. Regular farm workers must be asked to work longer hours for all-out production."

The Employment Service, it was pointed out, has taken every possible step to meet this critical situation. It has expanded its present facilities to recruit workers. Throughout the State students have been enrolled to work while on vacation or part-time while they are still in school. Adult registration is expected to bring in many women, retired persons, school teachers and other vacationers, as well as a large number of state employees.

"It is imperative that every available person, man or woman, whether or not they have worked in agriculture previously, make plans now to spend as much time as possible in the harvest fields of California this year. Wages are good and transportation facilities in most instances will be provided," Mathewson asserted.

COAST GUARD CALLS FOR MEN FOR VICTORY FLEET

In the coming year, the United States Coast Guard will train 64,000 men for duty in the Maritime Service. Of these, approximately 21,000 will become officers according to word received this week by Peter E. Sperati, U. S. Coast Guard, U. S. Maritime Enrolling Officer.

Successful applicants will be enlisted in the Coast Reserve, then assigned duty with the Maritime Service for an initial training period of three months prior to going aboard the various vessels in our great Victory Fleet.

"Opportunity for advancement today is greater than ever before," Sperati emphasized, "a young man being only limited by his capabilities, and can work up until he becomes the Master of a large liner. Pay and allowances are particularly enticing, for in addition to regular pay, bonuses add to the monthly income."

For over 150 years the Coast Guard has been one of the outstanding services, famous for the seamanship of its personnel, its outstanding part in the Nation's history, both in war and peace. And proud indeed can the young man be who takes as his own motto that of the Coast Guard, "Semper Paratus," (always ready).

Applications can be made at the Coast Guard and Maritime Office, 451 Spreckels Building, San Diego.

PEDESTRIANS' RIGHTS

The most important right of a pedestrian, is his right to stay alive, reports the Public Safety Department of the National Automobile Club. Automobiles are today faster than they were years ago, but the pedestrian has not improved his speed or armament. Motorists should give the same breaks to a pedestrian that the motorist would expect from others when he is walking.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

In all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, the subject will be "God the Only Cause and Creator." The Golden Text is from the Acts: "Lord, thou art God, which hast made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all that in them is."

The Lesson-Sermon speaks of the healing by Paul of a man, crippled from birth, who could not walk. This man heard Paul speak, as it says in Acts, and Paul "stedfastly beholding him, and perceiving that he had faith to be healed, Said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy feet. And he leaped and walked." An excerpt from Psalms is also included in the sermon passages: "The LORD upholdeth all that fall, and raiseth up all those that be bowed down."

Correlative statements from the pen of Mary Baker Eddy, as set forth in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," are as follows: "It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony." "When the first symptoms of disease appear, dispute the testimony of the material senses with divine Science. . . . Suffer no claim of sin or of sickness to grow upon the thought. Dismiss it with an abiding conviction that it is illegitimate, because you know that God is no more the author of sickness than He is of sin."

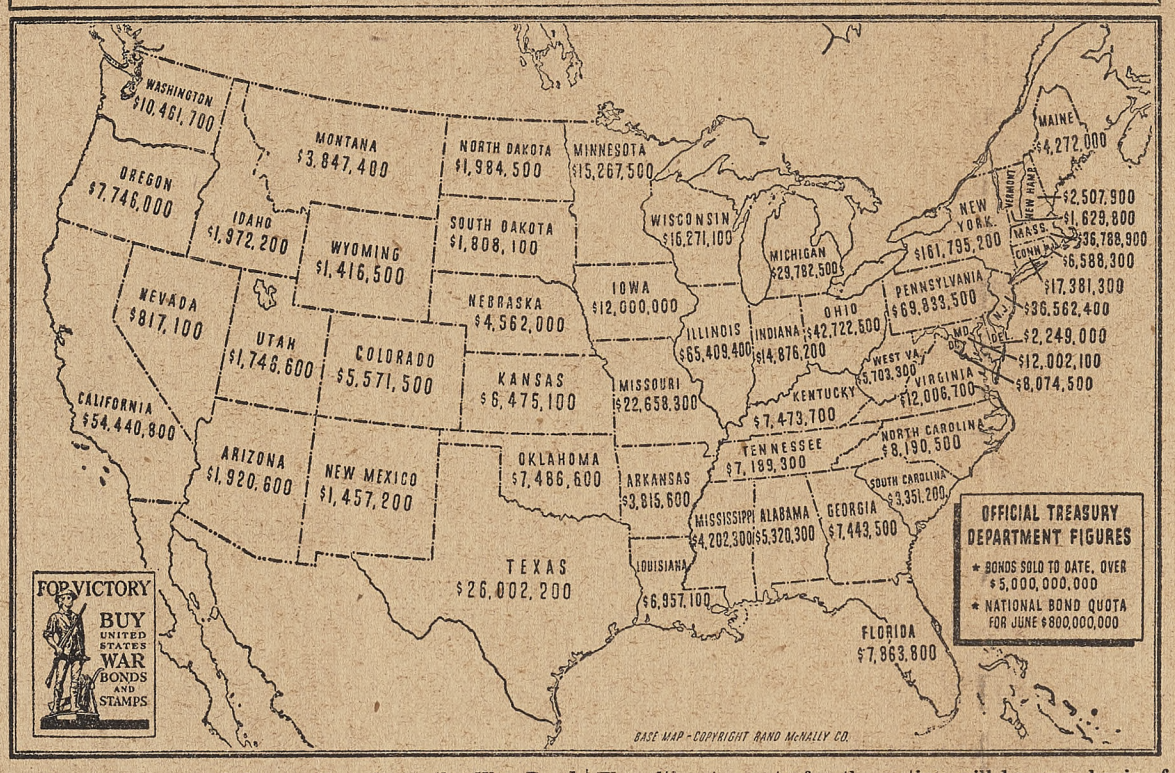
Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas for June



The above map of the country shows the War Bond Quota by states for the month of June totalling $800,000,000. Everybody every pay day is expected to invest at least ten per cent of his income in War Bonds to aid in financing America's offensive against the Axis powers.

The ultimate quota for the nation will be on a basis of one billion dollars per month effective in July. This sum is necessary to provide for all-out production of planes, guns, ships and munitions adequate to arm our fighting men with the tools necessary to win the war.

Tuesday the 7th grade gave a very enjoyable party in honor of the 8th grade. It started at 1:00 and lasted until 3:00. Games were played and then refreshments were served which consisted of ice cream, cookies and candy. The girls received very pretty corsages made of flowers in their class colors, green and gold. The boys received pins with '42 on them, also with class colors.

Friday the baseball team played 3 games at Coronado. They won 1 and lost 2.

Joan Lamoreaux of the 7th grade, who is living at the home of Miss Louise Ulrich, fell off her horse last Sunday and received severe bruises.

RECEIVE CARD FROM FRIEND AT SANTA ANITA

Rev. and Mrs. Dick Wichman received the following interesting card from Don Foriumi, a friend of theirs who is at the Santa Anita Assembly Center.

"Thank you very much for your much appreciated letter. We are getting along quite well and busily. I have the regular ministerial work, directing of the Religious Education for the Protestant Body, a temporary representative from a section, and in charge of twice daily nose-counting of about 525 persons (which the army ordered without reason), at 9:30 p.m. and 6:00 a.m. I am learning to go to bed late and getting up early, and still carry on a full days work.

"I conducted the first wedding in the camp. I thought that it would be a simple wedding. BUT it turned out to be quite an affair. Army signal corps taking moving pictures, light projectors all over the place, flash cameras, news reporters, turning of the government house into a make-shift chapel and adjournment of the Assembly meeting during the time of the wedding. The result was that the couple was scared stiff. I'll write again.

CHILDREN TO AID IN HARVESTING CROPS

The use of minors for harvesting crops in San Diego County should be seriously considered by farmers in this area. Speaking at a meeting of the USDA War Board, W. E. Bradbury, Chairman of the Board, said that increased shortages of farm labor, especially during the coming summer can be expected, and farmers must plan now to use substitute labor wherever it can be found. Use of school children is proving satisfactory in many rural areas and definite steps have been worked out with the United States Employment Service and the County Board of Education whereby children of school age will be made available.

"We farmers have got to get used to the fact that any kind of labor is better than none" said Bradbury, "and while there are disadvantages and a certain amount of red tape connected with the use of minors, it is one source of labor supply that will prove very welcome before long."

There are certain limitations in the use of children that should be understood. All minors under eighteen years must obtain permits to work from the Superintendent of Schools.

No child under sixteen years can work more than eight hours in one day or more than forty-eight hours per week. No child under sixteen may be employed to drive a car or truck, or be used in any work where the minor comes in contact with moving machinery.

Children over sixteen years may be employed, if necessary, more than eight hours per day and can be used for any kind of operation that occurs on the farm. Employers in all cases cannot work minors, under eighteen years, between the hours of 10:00 p.m. and 5:00 a.m. and are responsible for any injuries that may occur to the employee.

"These rules will be enforced," said Bradbury, "but there is no good reason why we should not make the fullest use of school children in this present emergency, and I would suggest that farmers contact the United States Employment Service here in San Diego well in advance of harvest needs where they will be given additional information."

AT RED CROSS MEETING

Mrs. Marcella Everhart of Riverview Farms attended the Red Cross work meeting on Monday.
